

COURSE MODULE INFORMATION

CT2102: Object Oriented Programming II

Semester 2 | Credits: 5

Understanding of the more advanced principles of the object oriented development process and apply this understanding to the analysis and design of solutions for small scale problems.
(Language of instruction: English)

Learning Outcomes

1. Competence in the use of the Java programming language in the development of small sized application programs that demonstrate professionally acceptable coding and performance standards.

Assessments

Continuous Assessment (100%)

Module Director

SÉAMUS HILL: Research Profile | Email

Lecturers / Tutors

SÉAMUS HILL: Research Profile

The above information outlines module CT2102: "Object Oriented Programming II" and is valid from 2016 onwards.

Note: Module offerings and details may be subject to change.