SECTION I: Course Overview

Course Code: SPN365
Subject Area(s): Spanish Literature
Prerequisites: Intermediate Spanish II
Language of Instruction: Spanish
Total Contact Hours: 45
Recommended Credits: 3

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course examines the portrayal of women’s identity in Spain as well as in Spanish literature and film from the 20th century until today. In addition to acquiring knowledge about women’s identity in Spain students will gain a better understanding of Spanish literature and cinema, while simultaneously broadening their knowledge of Spanish language.

To better understand Spanish women today, students will examine the major historical events of the 20th century and their effects on women’s lives. This course will analyze depictions of Spanish femininity and the stereotypes created, or challenged, by these depictions. Students will learn to apply different feminist theories to the content they are reading and viewing. This course will take place over three blocks, each examining different eras of Spanish culture and the role of the Spanish woman in each of them.

The class will be conducted entirely in Spanish, and students will learn specific terminology and academic language. In addition, they will practice and improve their writing, listening, and oral expression skills in Spanish.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon successful completion of this course, you will be able to:

- Describe the process of identity building and how it is reflected in film and literary texts.
- Identify historical changes reflected in literary and filmic texts in relation to the role of women.
- Apply feminist theoretical concepts to the analysis of filmic and literary texts.
• Develop Spanish reading comprehension and writing skills through the analysis of filmic and literary texts.
• Compare women’s identities in Spain and student’s home culture

Contact Information: TBA
Term: SEMESTER

ATTENDANCE POLICY

This class will meet once weekly for 150 minutes each session. All students are expected to arrive on time and prepared for the day’s class session.

CEA enforces a mandatory attendance policy. You are therefore expected to attend all regularly scheduled class sessions, including any field trips, site visits, guest lectures, etc. that are assigned by the instructor. The table below shows the number of class sessions you may miss before receiving a grade penalty.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ALLOWED ABSENCES – SEMESTER</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Courses Meeting X day(s) Per Week</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses meeting 1 day(s) per week</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

For every additional absence beyond the allowed number, your final course grade will drop down to the subsequent letter grade (ex: A+ to A). As a student, you should understand that the grade penalties will apply if you are marked absent due to tardiness or leaving class early. In the table below, you will find the grade penalty associated with each excessive absence up to and including automatic course failure.

CEA does not distinguish between excused and unexcused absences. As such, no documentation is required for missing class. Similarly, excessive absences, and the grade penalty associated with each, will not be excused even if you are able to provide documentation that shows the absence was beyond your control. You should therefore only miss class when truly needed as illness or other unavoidable factors may force you to miss a class session later on in the term.

The instructor reserves the right to make changes or modifications to this syllabus as needed.

Assessment Overview

This section provides a brief description of each form of assessment listed above. Your course instructor will provide further details and instructions during class time.

Class Participation (15%): Student participation is mandatory for all courses taken at a CEA Study Center. The instructor will use the rubric below when determining your participation grade. All students should understand that attendance and punctuality are expected and will not count positively toward the participation grade.

Portrayal of Women Essay (15%): For this assignment students will submit a first draft and a final version. Students are asked to complete an exercise of reflective observation about the role of women in their study abroad context. They will write the portrayal of Spanish women today according to what they observe, and the general knowledge acquired through the analysis of literary and visual texts. Finally, students will compare the role of women in the Spanish culture and their home culture.

Field Studies (10%): There will be two field studies throughout the semester. The first one will consist of a tour where students will observe and analyze different places in the city in relation to women’s role in a variety of social environments. Students will present orally their findings to share with the rest of the class. In the second field study, students will visit a women’s association and will write an essay on their findings during the visit.

The instructor reserves the right to make changes or modifications to this syllabus as needed
Midterm (20%): These are intended to assess your comprehension of the core concepts from the course, and will draw on lectures, assigned readings, and classroom discussions. The exam includes open questions that students will address in a short essay. Students will need to write their answers in Spanish.

Social Media Analysis (10%): Students will follow via Instagram or Twitter a Spanish female writer or activist of their choice (beta coqueta, Rosa Montero, Paula Bonet, La Fluorra…) and will present briefly in class any comment they find interesting throughout the semester. Furthermore, students will be asked to write two responses to a publication of their choice and submit it for grading.

Final Essay (20%): Students will complete research on a specific author or work studied in class. They will write a short final essay (2500-3000 words) in Spanish. This essay is intended to assess students’ analytical strategies as well as their ability to use feminist theoretical concepts on identity explained throughout the semester.

Oral Presentation (20%): Students will complete two oral presentations. In the first one, they will be assigned a particular topic covered in class and will prepare questions to engage in a class debate after their presentation. In the second one, they will present orally their final essay to end the semester with a panel on Spanish women identity in which students participate with their final work and create a dialogue between the different projects.

Experiential Learning Activities

CEA courses are designed to include a variety of experiential learning activities that will take you out of the classroom and allow you to explore your local, host city. These activities may include field studies, guest lectures and/or activities offered through our Academically Integrated Cultural Activities Program (AICAP). The following experiential learning activities are recommended for this course:

Field studies:

- City tour and observational activity
- Visit to a local women’s association

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES
In order to ensure student success abroad, CEA has provided the academic resources listed below. In addition to these resources, each CEA Study Center provides students with a physical library and study areas for group work. The Academic Affairs Office at each CEA Study Center also compiles a bank of detailed information regarding libraries, documentation centers, research institutes, and archival materials located in the host city.

The instructor reserves the right to make changes or modifications to this syllabus as needed.
• UNH Online Library: As a CEA student, you will be given access to the online library of CEA’s School of Record, the University of New Haven (UNH). You can use this online library to access databases and additional resources while performing research abroad. You may access the UNH online library here or through your MyCEA Account. You must comply with UNH Policies regarding library usage.

• CEAClassroom – Moodle: CEA instructors use Moodle, an interactive virtual learning environment. This web-based platform provides you with constant and direct access to the course syllabus, daily schedule of class lectures and assignments, non-textbook required readings, and additional resources. Moodle includes the normal array of forums, up-loadable and downloadable databases, wikis, and related academic support designed for helping you achieve the learning objectives listed in this syllabus.

  During the first week of class, CEA academic staff and/or faculty will help you navigate through the many functions and resources Moodle provides. While you may print a hard copy version of the syllabus, you should always check Moodle for the most up-to-date information regarding this course. The instructor will use Moodle to make announcements and updates to the course and/or syllabus. It is your responsibility to ensure that you have access to all Moodle materials and that you monitor Moodle on a daily basis in case there are any changes made to course assignments or scheduling. To access Moodle: Please log-in to your MyCEA account using your normal username and password. Click on the “While You’re Abroad Tab” and make sure you are under the “Academics” sub-menu. There you will see a link above your schedule that says “View Online Courses” select this link to be taken to your Moodle environment.

The instructor reserves the right to make changes or modifications to this syllabus as needed.
